

The Denver Police Department presents

LOCK OUT CRIME

PROTECTING YOUR BUSINESS

Ensure the business is well-lit and eliminate places for criminals to hide near the building.

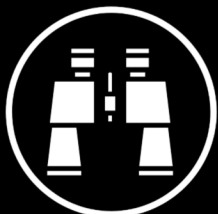

Lock all doors and windows when closed or away from the business. Install double cylinder deadbolts where possible, securing all points of entry, such as gates, fences, roof access, etc.

Remove cash from registers and leave the register open at the close of business and secure valuables or merchandise out of sight when closed.

Post signs outside your business letting criminals know there isn't money in the register or safe, and keep track of inventory by marking items or logging serial numbers.

Start or join a Business Watch Program to build relationships with neighboring business owners.

Install an alarm or surveillance system and contact your local Denver Police District for a business safety assessment.
